THE DEPARTMENT & THE ROLE

THE SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Science at Putney is about the will to find out. We aim to open up the minds of our students to an understanding of the value, relevance and importance of scientific endeavour. Experimentation is at the heart of our approach, and we take full advantage of the excellent laboratories, resources and facilities provided by our new state of the art Science centre.

In Years 7 and 8, students study a natural sciences course with topics combined from Biology, Chemistry and Physics. In Year 9 students begin separate GCSE courses in the three sciences, and more than half go on to study a STEM subject at A level. We offer extensive co-curricular opportunities to students to support their learning in lessons ranging from a weekly STEM club and medical society to residential Biology, Chemistry and Physics trips to the Pembrokeshire coast, Lisbon and Cape Canaveral. Sixth form science students lead a range of enrichment activities for younger students including our in-house science magazine, Under the Microscope.

The department currently consists of 12 science teachers, with a Head of Science, Heads of Biology, Chemistry and Physics and a Key Stage 3 Science Coordinator. We have specialist technicians in Biology, Chemistry and Physics supported by Key Stage 3 and 4 technicians.

As Head of Chemistry, you would be joining a thriving department of experienced teachers sharing a passion for their subject and commitment to our school ethos of modern scholarship. Students follow the AQA GCSE course for all three sciences, and OCR A level Chemistry. In recent years we have had considerable success in supporting applications for Oxbridge including Natural Sciences, Biochemistry and Chemistry.
